A few weeks ago CWA graft charges appeared in the headlines. The President himself was getting hundreds of letters a day complaining of sharp practices. Job-selling, political preference, false expense accounts, padded payrolls—these were the bones of contention. The government moved fast. Employees guilty of even suspicious actions, were dismissed, some were arrested. The attorney general went to work investigating other cases. Administrator Hopkins, worried and disconcerted, sent out army engineers to check up on CWA work. When one was sent to Cook county, Ill., which contains the city of Chicago, the entire Illinois CWA commission resigned.

At the same time, a nation-wide move got under way to keep the CWA in existence—it was due to pass away shortly. Mr. Roosevelt, however, doesn't want it as a permanent part of his organization, announced that he would adopt a modified course. Instead of bringing its activities to an end at once, it will be allowed to live until May 1. On Feb. 15, CWA workers in the south will be discharged at the rate of 500,000 a week.

Nearly 75 per cent of motor cars on roads today have defects which increase hazards of driving, according to figures of 42 state motor vehicle inspection campaigns covering 22,702,000 cars, analyzed by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters.

In explaining the survey, John J. Hall, director of the street and highway safety division of the national bureau, points out that no structural defects were discovered in the cars, but that three-fourths were found lacking either in adequate brakes, lights, horns, steering mechanism, windshield wipers, rear vision mirrors or safe tires. Worst of all was the condition of brakes—nearly 40 per cent being unsafe.

Obviously the condition calls for correction. No matter how safely a motorist drives, if his brakes fail, if his vision is obscured, if his lights do not show the road ahead, he is exposed to an accident every time he operates his car. It is not to belittle any of the hazards involved. In a hazardous chain of circumstances a defective windshield wiper can be just as dangerous as a loose wheel. Drivers who have formed a habit of overhauling their automobiles periodically are rarely responsible for accidents, said Mr. Hall.

Careless drivers, on the other hand, often pay a price for neglect that would meet necessary repair bills many times over, and if a few judgements are rendered against them, the bill will total the full price of several good automobiles.

Some states have found that the best method of insuring safe automobile mechanical condition is by means of compulsory inspection laws. They are supported in their views by safety organizations of nationwide reputation. Such laws have operated not only to improve individual car safety, but to increase employment and to stimulate business. In any event, the moral of this story is: Drive a safe car.

Congressman M'Grath
States Veteran Stand

I am receiving a very large number of letters requesting that I state my position with regard to the many bills affecting veteran legislation now pending before congress. I desire to give my constituents my exact position.

Prior to my election and since I have publically and privately felt and expressed my belief:

1. That the absolute maximum of benefits of right belonged to and should be given to every truly disabled veteran with a service connected disability incurred in any of our wars.

2. That our government and our people owe an obligation to every other honorable veteran which can never be fully repaid but which entitles that veteran to all of the assistance and help which the government can give without injury to our citizens as a whole whenever he is in distress.

3. That the veterans of the Spanish American war, Philippine insurrection and Boxer rebellion are entitled to special consideration because of the almost impossibility of securing adequate records showing whether or not disabilities were of service origin.

4. That the widows and orphans and dependents of veterans who died in service or as a result of service are entitled to the most liberal care and compensation.

5. That the government hospitals should be opened at all times to veterans suffering from service-

ALBERT OSBORN
PASSED AWAY
IN ACRAMENTO

Word has been received that Albert H. Osborn, a former resident of Campbell and this valley for 22 years, passed away in Oakland Feb. 6.

He is survived by his widow, Helen and his son, George, who are both well known here.

Mrs. Osborn is a sister of Mrs. F. R. James, who recently moved from Campbell to Winters.

Miss Helen David Becomes Bride Of Eugene Grattan

At five o'clock Wednesday, Feb. 7, Miss Helen David and Eugene B. Grattan were married at the Calvary Presbyterian church in San Francisco. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gordon McGrane.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. David, and is a graduate of San Jose State college and Armstrong college of Berkeley. Since completing her education she has been a member of the faculty of Redding high school.

Mr. Grattan is the son of Mrs. Lavinia Grattan of Grinnell, Iowa, and is a graduate of the University of Iowa. He is now practicing law in San Jose.

The day after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Grattan left for Mexico City, sailing on the S.S. Santa Teresa to Manzanillo. They will be at home in San Jose after March 10.

Fantasy-Operetta "Silver
Heels" Here Night of 22nd

Forty years of public celebration in Santa Clara county of Old Settlers' day and Washington's birthday anniversary will be climaxed at Campbell Feb. 22 with the first county wide fete of 1934.

Opening with a patriotic program in the morning, the celebration will continue in the evening in a series of colorful and entertaining events expected to attract several thousand of the county's old-time residents and their friends.

The oldest of the county's many observances, this holiday is widely known for its picturesque gathering of pioneers who have come to Campbell every year for the past four decades to renew old acquaintances. Each year has found familiar faces missing from the ranks of the "oldest settlers" but their places have been filled from year to year by more recent comers equally interested in this annual revival of days gone by.

Alonzo L. Baker
Will Talk Here
Old Settlers' Day

The community will be honored Old Settlers' day, Feb. 22, by the presence here of Alonzo L. Baker, editor of "Signs of the Times," who will deliver the address of the day at the morning program, according to word received this afternoon by Chairman of the Day H. M. Shadle.

Mr. Baker, a very interesting and forceful talker of some considerable reputation has chosen as his topic: "If Washington Were Alive Today."

In a costume composed largely of cellophane, little written and directed by Miss Adele Grandeman which will be presented on the Kiwanis evening program on Old Settlers' Day, Thursday, Feb. 22.

Last year an Old Settler's association was formed by a score of county residents who had lived in this valley for more than 50 years, headed by J. Henry Campbell, 82-year-old son of the founder of the town and oldest resident of that community.

A feature of this year's celebration will be a fantasy-operetta, "Silver Heels," written and directed by Miss Adele Grandeman of the Campbell grammar school faculty. It will be presented on the evening program under the auspices of the Campbell Kiwanis club, with Ira Abbott as chairman.

A musical program of unusual merit will be offered in the afternoon by the Campbell Women's Service club, with the famous "A Capella" choir of San Jose State college providing a large chorus of trained voices. Ruth Adele Roberts Warmke, talented dancer, will also participate in this part of the program.

Luncheon will be served at noon in the Campbell grammar school cafeteria by ladies of the Congregational church.

Music for the morning and evening programs will be provided by Campbell high school and grammar school orchestras directed by A. A. Thielke. H. M. Shadle is general chairman for the day.

Leading parts in the evening program will be taken Alice Modry as Silver Heels, captain of the silver huntmen; Leila Winans, fairy queen; Ernestine Fahler, princess; Georgiana Lloyd, little princess; Geraldine Furras, Uncle Terry, the gardener; Jacqueline Mitchell, little prince; Betty Jean Furras, Cupid; Francis Holmes, Lord Kirk; Gladys Larson, Lady Minchen; Carl Field, Squigg; Alfred Martin, Squank.

Ladies: Jewell and Jeanette Abbott, Lois Bohnett, Dorothy Penhall, Barbara Mitchell, Gladys Larson, Violet Waltrip, Elizabeth Howe, Jeannice Johnson, Geraldine

Frank H. Benson
Discusses Charter
At Grange Meet

At a meeting of Orchard City grange in Odd Fellows hall last night the lecture hour was devoted to a discussion of the pitfalls contained in the new charter proposed for this county.

Frank H. Benson of San Jose was introduced by acting lecturer Mrs. Louis Shelley. He spoke for about 45 minutes, and ably brought out a picture of the county government as he believes it will be if the charter carries. Mr. Benson pointed out that whether the proponents of the charter knew it or not, they are proposing to treat the county to another episode of the old-fashioned "boss rule" of the delegate system.

He also said that he did not believe the charter instrument to be sound legally, and asserted that its adoption would almost surely lead to confusion, and possibly litigation. He pointed out that its adoption "as is," to be revised and amended at a later date would not be businesslike and would result in further confusion when attempts were made to amend it.

At a brief business meeting the Grange Ladies auxiliary announced a card party to be held in the hall Tuesday evening, Feb. 27, at 8:30, following the regular meeting. A nominal admission will be charged.

WOMAN'S CLUB PREPARES FOR LITERARY DAY

A very interesting "Book Day" is promised for the Monday meeting of the Country Woman's club, where the committee, including Mrs. Carl Field, Mrs. John Strong and Miss Anne Schulte will present glimpses into the following books: "Russia Day by Day," Lamont; "Kapot," Carveth Wells—Mrs. Field; "Women in Soviet Russia," Fannina Halle; Mrs. Strong; "Great Offensive," Maurice Hindus; "Seeing Red," Eve Garret Grady—Miss Schulte.

The information gleaned from these books should afford a background for the address to be given on May 5 by Sam Harby of Montezuma school, who will speak on Russia. This latter meeting will be an open one to which both men and women guests are invited.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

Sweeping reductions proposed in the budget of the United States Department of Agriculture for the coming fiscal year have brought a new storm of protest from California agriculture, due to threatened abandonment of virtually all soil survey work by the federal government.

The threat to the soil survey program, which has played a vital role in California's agricultural development, is in addition to other ill-timed and drastic cuts in the program which endanger the agricultural experiment stations, the farm extension service and the biological survey.

Slashed approximately 45 per cent, the allotment for federal soil surveys has been reduced to $150,000 in the budget now pending before congress, as against $275,000 appropriated for the current year.

The decrease, unless it is modified by congressional action, will probably mean an end to all field soil surveys by the federal government in California and will restrict the cooperative federal-state program now under way to less than a third of normal.

Both with relation to the soil survey service, and in the previous reductions reported, the cuts in the agricultural department's budget attack functions of the utmost importance to a stable agriculture and represent "extravagant economy" entirely out of keeping with the general program of farm recovery.

California would be especially hard hit by curtailment or abandonment of the federal soil survey work at this time, due to changing conditions and new developments which have greatly intensified the demand for reliable soil survey data.

County assessors in many sections of the state, for example, are using the results of the soil survey as a basis for re-assessment and equalization of assessment rolls. The state board of equalization, in an even more important and far-reaching activity, is likewise calling on the soil survey service in developing the soil factor in land values. This is incident to the board's work in assessing the property of private utilities, preparatory to returning utility holdings to the local tax rolls next year for direct taxation.

Millions of dollars in tax collections are directly dependent, to a large degree, on the accuracy and dependability of the soil survey data in these instances.

Similarly, Prof. Charles F. Shaw, head of the division of soil technology at the University of California, which supervises the soil survey work, reports that proposed construction of the Central Valley water project has made it exceedingly important that Tulare, Kings and Kern counties be surveyed, together with other areas affected by the big water program. Requests are also on file, Prof. Shaw states, for additional surveys in Sonoma, Modoc, Mariposa, Calaveras, Tuolumne, San Joaquin, Riverside Santa Barbara, San Diego and Santa Cruz counties.

Used as important physical bases in establishing land values, the soil surveys are in constant demand by appraisers, the Federal Land Bank, assessors, engineers and the state real estate department in protecting investors from fraudulent real estate schemes.

Perhaps the greatest importance of the soil surveys, in relation to the agricultural recovery program, connected disabilities and to other veterans permanently and totally disabled and needing hospitalization wherever such disability is not the result of misconduct

6. That the limit of the facilities—and those facilities should be made adequate—government hospitals should be opened to veterans suffering from non-service connected disabilities not the result of misconduct wherever such veteran needs material medical or surgical care. In these times of emergency I believe that veterans suffering from nonservice-connected disabilities should pay for hospitalization for these non-service connected disabilities if such veterans are fairly able to pay for such treatment. Under no circumstances should there be a charge for treatment for service connected disabilities.

7. That the "causative factor" in connection with emergency officers retirement should be so re-defined as to permit retirement to any officer suffering from any permanent wartime service connected disability of at least thirty per cent.

8. That the adjusted compensation certificates should be cashed at the earliest date possible without upsetting the President's recovery program.

I voted for the economy act last spring and I offer no apologies. I believed then and I believe now that the action taken by President Roosevelt was all that saved the nation from utter chaos. The Economy act was the first test of his program and while I am under the most lasting obligations to veterans, I owe a major obligation to the country as a whole. I feel that I was elected by the people to support President Roosevelt in his effort to save our people and everything else is subordinate to giving him full and fair opportunity to work out his program. That program is succeeding and, if we will continue to give him the support lies in their value as a guide to the development of a planned program of land utilization, as President Roosevelt has repeatedly pointed out.

From every standpoint, the soil survey service has thoroughly justified itself and it is to be hoped that congress will not indulge in costly-economy by permitting it to be abandoned or crippled. With the federal government spending billions of dollars in emergency work of every nature to relieve unemployment, it would be sheer stupidity to abolish a scientific work which brings lasting benefits to the whole country.

Horace Leas Hosts At Birthday Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lea recently entertained at a family birthday dinner party in honor of Mrs. Emily Sailor and her brother, George Grace of Spokane, who is visiting here.

Enjoying the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Lea and the guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bowman of San Jose, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Churchill of Livermore, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Keesling, Miss Margaret Keesling, Miss Bonnie Bowman and James Bowman, San Jose, Warren Lea, and Robert and Nettie Laycock, old friends from San Francisco.

which we have given him to date, the future is assured for all of our people including veterans.

As a member of the administration I have worked constantly in conference with the party leaders to bring to them a true understanding of the situations which confront our veterans. I have kept my office in Washington open and I have carried individual cases direct to the White House besides battling with subordinate officials in sympathy neither with the veterans nor with the President.

As a result of my efforts, together with others who were working with me, we secured the modification of the President's regulations and the changes in the law of the closing days of the special session and also in the liberalizing regulations which the President announced Jan. 21, 1934. I have definite assurance that the administration will make the proper and necessary changes in the existing laws before congress adjourns.

As always I and my office stand ready to carry on the fight for any veteran or dependents of a veteran suffering from a disability that can be traced to service and also to help everybody able to work back into a job.

I shall continue to support the President in this war against depression.

"STRAY CATS" IS SUCCESSFUL PLAY HERE FRIDAY

Friday night's entertainment, the three-act comedy "Stray Cats," put on by the Campbell Union High School Alumnae association for the benefit of the 1934 "Oriole," high school year book, was very successful, both from the viewpoint of the spectators and from that of the players.

Reports from every quarter indicate that the cash customers came away well satisfied, high in their praise of the entire cast and their director, Mrs. Wyland Morgan, and for the manner in which the stage was managed.

The sponsors of the play intimated that their purpose of raising money for the year book had been admirably served.

Ruth Townsend Has Attractive Floral Exhibit On Display

A very attractive display of potted plants, cut flowers and ferns has been arranged in the old Press office by Miss Ruth Townsend, who is the local representative for a San Jose nursery. All of these plants are for sale, the display to remain on exhibition for the remainder of the week.

Besides catering to the tastes of local gardeners, Miss Townsend is prepared to lend her not inconsiderable skill to those who wish to put in formal or informal gardens, and themselves lack experience to make an attractive job of it.

Natural Gas

Naturally THE BETTER FUEL

CALIFORNIA climate presents a heating problem that demands easily controlled heat.

There are no long severe winters. Heat is needed for short periods and it must come quickly. To build up a big fire means wasted fuel. For quick-acting heat that warms floors and walls and circulates into every room corner, climate-wise Californians, rely on Natural Gas—naturally the better fuel.

Gas is piped directly to the furnace or heater and there is no bother to order or handle it. Natural Gas Heating equipment, too, was developed for California homes. Each of the newest types of equipment have known heat-output ratings ranging from the smaller space heaters to the full automatic warm-air furnaces. Investigate and see. Get the facts.

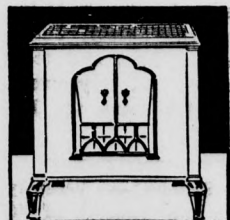

Floor Furnace

Solves the heating problem for homes without a basement. Highly praised by thousands. Saves floor space and is easy and most economical to install and operate.

Circulating Heater

Attractive, low in first cost and highly efficient. It heats two to four rooms. Made in many sizes and styles. Extremely economical to operate.

SERVICE and DEPENDABILITY

THE STORY OF CALIFORNIA SCHOOLS

By ROY W. CLOUD
State Executive Secretary California Teachers Association

FREE EDUCATION, A PUBLIC RESPONSIBILITY

The greatest credit must be given to John Swett, and his predecessors in office, for their unremitting efforts to advance the theory and practice of free, tax-supported education for all the children in the state. Swett himself was undoubtedly the ablest man down to his time to hold the office of state school superintendent in California. His outstanding characteristics were an intense educational idealism coupled with a sincere democratic spirit. He believed in the common man. He believed, with a fervor that was almost religious, in the ability of the common people to work out a successful social destiny under a republican form of government, if given the necessary opportunities for free education.

Animated by this intense idealism, he threw himself into his labors as state superintendent of public instruction. He felt keenly his obligation to the children of the common man, and through them to the republic in whose citizenship he took his greatest pride. Thus the years of his office—1863 to 1867, years which were filled with the turmoil of war and the aftermath of reconstruction—could hardly be other than a period of marked advancement in public education.

In 1863, when he took office, only $480,000 was raised for public education. During the last year of his incumbency, this amount had grown to $1,287,000. The state's contribution had doubled from $130,000 to $260,000. The school money raised by county and district taxes had grown from $294,000 to $600,000. Meanwhile the "rates" or charges against parents had fallen from $130,000 to only $79,000, and were shortly to disappear from California. More than five times as much was spent on school buildings in 1867 as in 1862, the actual amounts being $257,000 and $49,000, respectively.

The school law of 1866 drew the attention of the entire nation to California, and marked for the time the furthestmost progress toward a system of free public education to be found anywhere in the world.

Henry Barnard, editor of the American Journal of Education, the foremost educational publication in this country, devoted ten pages to a treatment of this California law. Barnard said, in part: "There is nothing so liberal in the way of taxation in any other state in the world. Superintendent Swett, in this noble contribution to the interests of national education,

84TH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED WITH FAMILY PARTY

The 84th birthday of Miss Emma Miller of Palo Alto, formerly of Campbell, was fittingly celebrated here with a family dinner and reunion Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Shadle. Miss Miller was born in Wallingford, Conn., 1850, and was for many years a teacher in San Francisco, where many of the state's present dignitaries once went to her school.

His birthday falling on the same day, the party also honored Master Larry Shadle, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Shadle.

Present besides the guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. George L. Husted, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Shadle, Henry Shadle, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Shadle, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Shadle, Mrs. Alice L. Hyde, Miss Dorothy Saunders, Burton and Joan Shadle, Barbara Husted and Homer Hyde, Campbell; Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Husted, Mr. and Mrs. Ryan Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Miller, and Mrs. F. B. Brown, San Jose; Tiras Brown, Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. Buford Brown, Betty, Ann and Robert Brown, Stanford university; Miss Ruth Martin, also of Stanford, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller of San Francisco.

has laid our whole country under lasting obligations . . ."

The figures and facts of educational progress, however, merely tell a small part of the story. Cold statistics have revealed the nature of the social effort which was expended on public education, but they cannot tell the more human story of the patient upbuilding of public interest and public sentiment motivating such effort.

Less than two decades prior to 1867 the public of California in general looked upon education as something which parents might furnish, if they chose, to their own children. Slowly during the intervening years this attitude on the part of the public was transformed. At first some public aid for schools was won; then more and more, until the public came finally to assume the attitude that free education was a public responsibility to childhood.

PARTNERSHIP OF DUNLAP & SMILY IS DISSOLVED

The partnership of Dunlap and Smily, operated for the past six years by P. H. Dunlap and W. G. Smily, was last week dissolved. The business featured a Ford agency, and a radio sales and service department.

Under the new order Mr. Dunlap has taken over the Ford agency and garage business, while Mr. Smily will continue on in the radio department.

Patrons of the establishment will therefore continue to see familiar faces when they call for repair work in either department, or for a new radio or automobile.

Mrs. Walter Stray Honored At Party

Mrs. Walter Stray was guest of honor at a bridge luncheon tendered by Mrs. D. H. Cramer, Mrs. Hattie Baugh and Mrs. Chauncey H. Whitman, the other members of Mrs. Stray's bridge group, and Mrs. Harry C. Smith. The very charming affair took place at the home of Mrs. Whitman on Central avenue.

Other guests were members of Mrs. Smith's bridge foursome, Mrs. J. C. Ainsley, Mrs. G. S. Robson, and Mrs. Leigh Saunders.

Mrs. Stray left the latter part of the week to visit her daughter, Miss Helen, who is taking post graduate work at U. S. C.

The People Say:

A PLACE RESERVED FOR THE RANK AND FILE WHO OTHERWISE HAVE NO MEDIUM IN WHICH TO PRESENT THEIR OPINIONS. PAPERS SHOULD BE FAIRLY BRIEF, AND FAIRLY WRITTEN—ON ONE SIDE OF MS. ONLY

Samuel Tompkins, a very able and highly respected attorney of San Jose, came out to Campbell last Sunday evening to tell the people about the plan to improve criminal procedure in the courts of California. He spoke in the Congregational church and there were possibly 30 people present. What's the matter that people will not go out to learn of these very vital matters?

After the lynching in San Jose every one was stirred to indignation that so little has been done in the last half dozen murder cases in this county. And then when we have a chance, right at our doors, to hear of the steps being taken to correct our faulty laws, people stay at home, and let the speaker face row after row of empty seats. No one has a right to howl if they won't do their part to correct conditions. To take an intelligent interest and part in public affairs is being more patriotic than to wave a flag and turn out for a Fourth of July parade.

Let's each one turn over a new leaf and be a worth-while citizen. I know it's much easier to sit by the fire, with book and radio, but it is not playing the game.

Adventist Tabernacle Gives KYA Program

The Boothby-Spillman Tabernacle company, which is building a big tabernacle in the heart of San Francisco, under the auspices of the Seventh-Day Adventist church, are giving a series of radio broadcasts over KYA, kilocycle 1230 from 5:30 to 6 o'clock each Sunday evening. There is on each occasion a lecture and music, and Evangelist Robert L. Boothby speaks on world problems in the light of the prophecies of the holy scriptures.

Evangelist Don Hiatt Spillman, who directs the tabernacle choir, will furnish music that radio listeners everywhere love to hear. The Seventh-Day Adventists of this community cordially invite all to listen to this interesting and attractive radio program.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ridley of Johnson avenue left Tuesday morning for a two-weeks' visit with their daughter Mrs. Frank Rawlings, in Long Beach. During their absence Mr. Ridley's watch and jewelry shop will be closed.

Mrs. J. R. Lynden is visiting a few days this week with her son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Joyce W. Farr of Berkeley.

suant to the power of sale conferred in a certain Deed of Trust executed by Joseph Swain, a widower as Trustor to San Jose Abstract & Title Insurance Co., a corporation, as Trustee, for the benefit and security of Manuel C. Corcel and Mary P. Corcel, his wife, dated May 22, 1929 and recorded May 23, 1929 in Volume 466 of Official Records, page 122, Santa Clara County Records.

Notice of breach of said obligations and election to sell said real property was recorded in the office of the County Recorder of said County on November 3, 1933 in Volume 659 of Official Records, page 593. This notice is given in compliance with the written application heretofore made on the trustee by said beneficiaries. Said breach of said obligations consists of failure to pay both principal and interest due thereon and said breach has continued until and including the date of this Notice. Dated: February 7, 1934.

KIWANIS NOTES By Heck

A wee bit more Scotch, please. And we had it. Roy Gatchell Archibald, a braw lad, was chairman. He introduced another Scot, Victor McCurdy, as speaker at Kiwanis luncheon.

Mr. McCurdy gave a very interesting account of his trip thru the canal to Europe and return. He went in interest of his fresh fruit business and did considerable of personal observing at the many points visited.

Speaking of fruit, the American pears and apples are so perfectly standardized that they sold for as high as $7.50 per box and no questions asked as to uniformity in size and quality. Frenchmen will not buy their own grown fruits without having boxes emptied and resorted to cull out inferior grades. The quota of American fruits permitted entry into France is at present very small, altho the demand is so strong that very little of the home grown fruit could be sold in competition with our products.

On his trip through England and Scotland he was shown the sights by the various brokers through, through whom he sells his fruit.

The dole system prevails, and in Scotland there are thousands of men 20 to 25 years of age who have never done any work and who don't know how to do anything.

Arthur Free will give a patriotic talk at next Tuesday's luncheon.

Congregational Church

This Wednesday evening the Rev. J. H. Bennett will give the first of a series of Lenten talks. His topic will be, "The Respect That Jesus Has for Me."

Sunday night at 7:45 there will be a stereopticon lecture entitled, "Daybreak in Darkest Africa." The Reverend Bennett will read the descriptive talk.

ERSTWHILE SCOUT RETURNS FROM CRUISE TO S. A.

Bill Halley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Halley of San Jose, formerly of Cambell, was looking up his friends here today after being absent since Sept. 15 on a cruise of considerable length.

Leaving San Francisco as a cadet officer on the S. S. Hollywood, McCormack line, Bill, who was a member of the local Sea Scouts, went first to Canadian ports; thence back to the states, Mexico, Guatamala, Porto Rico, Trinidad, B. W. I.; Brazil and the Argentine. On the return trip his vessel touched points in northern Brazil and the Dutch West Indies.

Friends of Cecil Keesling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Keesling of Rincon avenue, will be interested to learn that he is studying at Columbia university in New York, and at the same time doing social service work and working in a print shop.

"INVINCIBLE" HEAVIES LOSE TO MT. VIEW

In a double-header tilt with Mt. View here Friday night the justly famous heavy-weight basketball team of Campbell high school went down to defeat at the hands of the visitors, losing the game by 14-19 score. The Mountain Viewers effectively bottled up Cook, Campbell's star center, and that, together with the fact that he didn't seem able to hit the hoop more than three times, spelt disaster for the local quint.

Pryor was back in the line-up after a long lay-off, and displayed a nice brand of ball, totalling 5 points. Person got 2, Stojanovich 6, Fellman 0, and Hocking 1.

The 130s were going good on this occasion, winning by a margin of four points over the visitors' total of 14. Condensa accounted for 8, Bloom 7, Frank 1, Brydon 2, Mattusch and Lear 0.

This Friday's games will be held at Los Gatos, and will decide the championships.

Local Man Lauds State College Choir

By H. C. Smith

The writer had the pleasure of hearing the San Jose State college A Cappella choir at its recent recital and the entire performance was a delightful treat. Choirs and choruses have always been enjoyable spots in this man's life, and this choir was a high light.

On its return from the southern tour, the choir will sing at the afternoon program, Old Settlers' day, Feb. 22, at Campbell. This will give all music lovers of the valley an opportunity to hear one of the outstanding musical organizations of the state. Take this tip from one who has heard it: Do not miss it.

Wedding plans of Marcell C. Hermie, 29, Los Gatos, and Josephine S. Lovoi, 20, Campbell, and of Orval R. Clement, 28, Campbell and Ethel Beril Knapton, 20, of San Jose, were revealed when the couples filed notice of their intentions to wed in San Jose last week. McVey.

Cast of "Up In The Air" Assures Good Production

A finished and polished production of the high school operetta, "Up in the Air," which will be presented Friday night, March 9, seems to be assured at the present date. The members of the cast, with the efficient aid of Mr. Thielke, Miss Carson, Mrs. Dahl, and Miss Howes, have been working hard to learn their lines, songs, dances and acting.

The story deals with George Burbank, a big business man, who tolerated no one but a young fellow of brawn and daring as candidate for the hand of his daughter Betty, who is already wooed, much to his annoyance, by Harold Post, a young man of just the opposite type. Burbank's friend McCullom, a movie magnate, proposed to stage a spectacular flying stunt by a young aviator, Joe Bennett, who has applied for a job in the movies, and offers a prize to any amateur who will make a parachute jump. Jim Carter, Harold's busybody friend, seizes on this as the young man's opportunity to make good, and devises various alibis which will prevent his actually going up, while gaining the credit for bravery. One of these alibis fail, and Harold gets more and more deeply involved. Finally he is forced to go through with it in spite of himself, and by a comic fluke manages to maintain his reputation as a dare-devil, to gain the enthusiastic approval of Burbank, and win the girl of his choice.

The members of the cast include: Shirley Kingston, Marjorie Prout; Joe Bennett, Gordon Stafford; Jim Carter, Willis Green; Annie McCullom, Rena Pregliasco; Fannie McCullom, Corrine Del Grande; Henry McCullom, Elmer Schmidt; Mrs. McCullom, Minnie Vieira; George S. Burbank, Graydon Williams; Mrs. Burbank, Helen Payne; Betty Burbank, Mabel Matteson; Harold Post, Hugh Cramer; Juniper Johnson, Norman McVey.
